Capacity Theatre's adaptation reimagines Henrik Ibsen's classic play A Doll's House as a modern, queer story examining autonomy and power. DOLLY'S HOUSE asks how struggles of power and autonomy can corrode relationships outside of traditional gender norms.

CONTENT CONSIDERATIONS:

We would like our audiences to be aware that this show has themes involving domestic abuse, sexual blackmail, and alcoholism.

PLAYWRIGHT'S NOTE:

I'm very grateful for everyone who has helped me develop "Dolly's House" over the past year. I have loved every moment of adapting this play. Everytime I sit down to edit this play I truly feel like I am opening the doors and sitting at the bar. It's been a writer's dream.

As a huge admirer of Ibsen's work I have had such an appreciation for "A Doll's House" and everything it speaks to. The truth is that all of Ibsen's characters are living and breathing straight off the page which made working on this so much fun. So welcome to Dolly's House, I hope you enjoy the show.

-Gabrielle Therrien

DIRECTOR'S NOTE:

I am beyond excited to have you join us here at Dolly's House, everyone's favorite quaint little queer bar. Here, the walls can talk, and they tell us a tale full of secrets, love, and desperation.

When starting this journey I knew we were in for an intensive in theatre creation - a fast paced, decisive, and infinitely deep experience. Together we wound together a delicate balance of trust building, text exploration, and full body impulse. In rehearsal we found the highs of laughter, and the lows of depression which inform the characters' each and every word. From day one everyone gave their all to this complicated, heartbreaking, and beautiful show.

I cannot express how grateful I am for the hardworking and dedicated team I had with me on this production - from our insightful cast, Liv, Katie, Belle, Andrew, and Simon; mindful stage manager, Kelly; and attentive production manager, Emma; to Robin and Matt who stepped up in our final hours to help us really make the show shine.

It has been my immense pleasure to guide this remarkable script off the page Gibby wrote and into reality. I'm proud to have had my hand in showcasing this story of queer life, queer love, and queer experience.

-Cassandra Munroe
